Dorothy Kline, Organist Gives Recital Sunday

Will be Assisted by Miss Ruth McDaniel

Miss Dorothy Kline, organist, assisted by Miss Ruth McDaniel, clarinetist, will present a recital at the Durham Community Church on Easter Sunday, April 25, at 4 o'clock. Both Miss Kline and Miss McDaniel are instructors in the Music department of the University of New Hampshire.

The program will open with three Chorale-Preludes of Bach, played by Miss Kline. Miss McDaniel will then play an "Adagio" by Beethoven and Schubert's "Ave Maria." A second organ group will include "Corrente Siciliano" by Karg-Elert and "Burgundy Sketches" by Jacob. Miss McDaniel's second group of selections consists of a Wagner "Adagio" and "Arabesques" by Jeanjean. The program will be concluded with Miss Kline's presentation of a Fugue by Robert W. Manton, director of the Music department at the University; a Toccata on "O Filii et Filiae" by Farnum; and "Prelude and Fugue in G minor" by Dupre. Professor Manton's Fugue will receive its first performance. It was written in 1941 and is dedicated to Canon Charles F. Smith of Washington Cathedral.

Miss Kline, who is also organist at the Durham Community Church, was graduated from DePauw University in 1941 and received her Master of Music degree from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. She is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda and Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary societies, and is a Colleague in the American Guild of Organists.

Miss McDaniel teaches piano and woodwind in the Music department, and is also a graduate of the Eastman School of Music.

Students Interested in Teaching Should Register

Any students interested in teaching should contact the Bureau of Appointments immediately if he has not already done so. This applies especially to the members of the class which is to graduate in September as there is an unusually heavy demand for teachers at present.

R.A.C.-Victor Division representatives will be on campus April 28 to interview senior women for positions in general office work and in the new R.C.A. Engineering Cadet program.

Students interested in any of the above positions as well as number of others on file should arrange for interviews at the Bureau of Appointments.

96 ROTC Members Now Privates In Army of the United States

By B. Shepard

"Fall in! Right . . . Face. Forward . . . march!" barked acting group leader, Ralph Pino, to the Junior R.O.T.C. members. A smart clicking of heels picked up the insistent cadence of the leader and the juniors departed from in front of Pettee Hall on the first leg of their journey to Fort Devens to be activated as privates in the Army of the United States.

The group, consisting of 95 juniors under the charge of Roland Boucher, acting corporal, had just received final instructions from the tactical officers here and were ready to board the 8:39 train to Boston last Friday morning.

Amid the clicking of camera shutters the group gaily boarded the train and took their places in the assigned sections. Main topic of conversation, of course, was the speculation as to whether or not the boys would be home in time for the Prom that evening. Doubts that persisted were brushed aside, as the wish being the father of the thought, the boys decided that they probably would make it.

Trip Uneventful

The trip was uneventful enough. Many settled down to reading the newspapers and magazines, or to playing cards which the foresighted ones had brought. Entertainment was furnished by the quartet of Pino, Morcom, Wheeler and Jacobson at spasmodic intervals when they recalled some of the famous old-timers. The lovely strains of "Alma Mater" reverberated throughout the train as the whole group joined in the song.

Ayer was reached about 12:30 and the boys were ushered into three trucks to be taken to the Fort. A Captain welcomed the boys by asking their cooperation as the program was to be rushed through so that the students could return for the dance on Saturday night. A rippling murmur went through the group when the boys realized that all possibilities of attending the Prom were gone. However, all accepted the verdict with good grace.

Beans First Meal

First, articles of equipment were then issued, as the boys stood in line to receive their raincoats, and toilet articles. Then came the first meal in an army camp. It consisted, of course, of the traditional beans.

After dinner, exams were taken which included the general classification test and radio and mechanical aptitude tests. Then came supper after which barracks were assigned for the evening. The evening was free, so many attended the movies or the fights. Visits around the camp, inspecting of the post exchange, and other buildings took up the time of others. At 5:00 a.m. Saturday morning, all rolled out of their cots. Equipment was returned and some helped in the cleaning of the barracks before

Harvard Glee Club Gives Well Rounded Performance Here

By Phyllis Deveneau

Although depleted in number the Harvard Glee Club gave one of their usual masterly performances when they presented an interesting concert under the direction of G. Wallace Woodworth Sunday night in New Hampshire Hall as the last program on the Lectures and Concerts Series of the year.

Tremendous Enthusiasm

Like so many other musical organizations, the Harvard Glee Club because of the exigencies of war has lost many of their finest singers and has had to cut rehearsals from three times a week to two. Though lacking the perfection of last year's or the year before's group these difficulties arising from an accelerated mode of living were overcome by their tremendous enthusiasm and their sincere love of music.

The program ranged from the pure a cappella style of Allegri to the poly-rhythms of Milhaud and stylistically the Glee Club adapted their voices to each type with the versatility that comes from careful study.

Seemingly the most enjoyed by the glee club and enjoyable to the audience were those of the effervescent type. A notable example was the familiar Casey Jones melody, arranged for the glee club by Edward B. Lawton, with its peculiarly American brand of rollicking humor and expansiveness. Choruses from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe," with its peculiarly British brand of charming nonsense of the hero who is the son of a fairy and a peer, and is therefore half fay, half human, came in for a goodly round of applause, particularly the Lord Chan-

WOMEN'S CONVOCATION

There is to be a convocation required of all women students on Wednesday afternoon, April 21, at four o'clock in New Hampshire Hall. Ensign Helen Baxter of the WAVES and Lieut. Frye of the Navy are to be the guest speakers.

Women have the opportunity of making personnel appointments in the evening if they wish.

Screening Tests by Navy Department

Yesterday the Navy Department held its first screening tests on campus to determine which of its Reservists shall continue college and which are to be called into active duty. All members of V-1 classification who will have completed four or more semesters by July 1st and all of the Marine Corps Reservists who have not completed three semesters to date were required to take these exams. The only exceptions were granted to pre-dental and pre-medical students upon request. However, the Navy Department urged all to take it as subsequent change of plans might interfere with professional training.

Majoring to Continue

According to latest information received by Dr. Thut, students in Navy V-1, V-5, or Marine Corps Reserves will be permitted to continue majoring in their chosen fields after they have been transferred to a Navy college.

Students who qualify under the new V-2 program, however, may be required to follow an accelerated program of study which will offer very little if any choice of majors. Again the exceptions are the pre-medical and pre-dental students.

According to all indications the Naval and Marine Reservists will be called into active duty about the first of July.

Prom Gay in Spite Of Weather and War

Though "c'est la guerre" and conspicuous by their absence were 95 juniors, gaiety reigned in a transformed New Hampshire Hall Friday night as the Junior Prom was attended by 240 dancing couples. Bob Allen and his band fulfilled highest expectations, catching the enthusiasm of the crowd in such numbers as "Blue Plate Special" and in the vocals of Allen himself and his pleasing songstress, Paula Kelley.

Coronation Ceremony

In the traditional coronation of the Queen of Junior Prom, lovely Connie Estes, escorted by her aides, Melba McKay and Ethel Steigmann, approached the throne from the foyer of the hall through an aisle formed by the promgoers. Jim Keenan, acting in place of class president, Boo Morcom, then presented the queen with a bouquet of roses. After the coronation, Queen Connie ruled over the dance from her throne while the orchestra dedicated a medley of waltzes in her honor.

Huge evergreens filled the corners of the hall and provided a setting for the band with the '44 numerals of the class in the background. Multi-colored balloons completely covered the ceiling and a genuine rock garden flanked either side of the throne.

Mike & Dial Revives The Silver Coronet

At 4:30 last Wednesday-Mike and Dial presented a comedy, "Ask Aunt Mary," written for radio by Helen Woodward with the following cast: Ned Barclay, Herman Skofield, Miss Elder, Natalie Brooks, Janet Carter, Sallie Sawyer Smith, Milton Sinclair, and Paul DeGross.

Since the play was a light comedy, it depended on fast direction by Betty Jo Weaver and expert interpretation by the cast of Mike and Dial veterans for its effectiveness. Sound effects were by Kay Davis and Art Sawyer announced.

The next Mike and Dial program on Wednesday, April 28, will revive "The Silver Coronet."

Impromptu Concert Held by Harvard Boys at Pharmacy

"Oh, the deacon went down in the cellar to pray, He found a blond and he stayed all day."

Above is an excerpt from one of the songs that was sung by several members of the Harvard Glee Club in the tearoom at the Pharmacy after the concert Sunday evening. About 20 of the boys decided that they wanted to see something of Durham before returning to Harvard Square, so they went downtown after the performance and ended by giving an impromptu concert. A few of the songs which they sang were taken from their repertoire but most of them were familiar enough that the crowd could join in the singing.

The main interest of the boys seemed to be the glee club and singing—they really enjoyed it, and were very proud of their organization. One fellow said, quite modestly, that theirs was the best glee club in the country—"because the rest have gone in the ar-

Celebration of the third annual Ben Thompson Day, the anniversary of its founder-farmer's birth, will be held tomorrow with a special all-college convocation which will be broadcasted at 1:30 p.m. Professor Philip M. Marston, of the University's History department, will deliver the convocation address on "The World of Benjamin Thompson."

The processional, which will include President Fred Engelhardt, Professor Marston; Carl Carlson, president of Student Council; and Marjorie Chalmers, president of the Association of Women Students, will open the Ben Thompson Day program, followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and the New Hampshire Hymn. President Engelhardt will then introduce Professor Marston.

In 1893, Benjamin Thompson, a Durham farmer, left a will which provided for the disposal of his entire estate to be used in establishing a college for the teaching of agriculture and allied subjects. This resulted in the transfer of the then struggling New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts from Hanover to Durham, starting the building of what is now the modern and beautiful University of New Hampshire.

Professor Marston's talk will cover the events of the 19th century as they affected Durham and Ben Thompson. This century which saw such great advances in the territorial possessions of the United States, the development of machinery, and the integration of the once isolated communities of the original colonel America, was the background for Ben Thompson's 84 years, from 1806 to 1890. The effect of these events on all communities like Durham and on men like Benjamin Thompson will be the theme of Professor Marston's convocation address.

At the previous convocations honoring Ben Thompson, Professor Harold Scudder and Professor Donald Babcock were the principal speakers.

944 Pints of Blood Donated in Durham

Last week saw the realization and the final product of months of preparation when 944 pints of blood were donated by university students and residents of Durham and surrounding towns. The unusually large figure of 1452 people registered of which 858 were from Durham. The discrepancy in figures was due to the high number of rejects, caused mainly by colds which the would-be donors were afflicted with.

On Friday, the last day of the drive, a new record was set for the mobile unit when a total of 246 people made donations. Before coming to Durham the previous record up to that date had been 231 donations.

The Mobile Unit staff in an interview after it was all over stated that they felt that the week had been a great success, for although the goal of 1000 pints was not reached, there have only been two towns in which it has been.

The Army Moves In

With the coming of soldiers to Durham in the past week, a tremendous change has been apparent on campus. No longer a cloistered sanctuary, we are all well aware that this quiet town is now an active military post.

To the new arrivals, we wish to extend a sincere welcome. We hope that in the short time that they remain here, they will absorb some of the love for New Hampshire that we possess. The natural friendly spirits which prevails here has already been evidenced to them.

Although we realize that the program of the soldier-students is an intensive one, we hope that they will be able to join in many of the college social activities. In this way to cement the newly formed friendships which have been formed.

It is quite an exciting period in the history of the university. The months of uncertainty and planning for the arrival of the group has now culminated in the setting up of their program. Administration and army officials have worked hard to see that everything would be in readiness. From the talk of the men it seems that a good job has been done. Nearly all appear pleased at the arrangements that have been made.

But all this does make a difference. No longer can the regular students on campus remain indifferent to the events happening in the world. We are too much a part of it.

Yes, almost one hundred of our boys are now in uniform, still living among us, partaking the same meals, but somehow charging the atmosphere with the intangible nearness of war.

And yet, even with the khaki and brass buttons, there is in Durham a feeling that things are more settled. This is what we have been waiting for. Much of the tenseness and nervousness of the past few weeks are gone. Instead a serious determination is apparent.

We know our part in the proceedings. We are here primarily to help in any way we can the task that has been set up for the university. To help prove that colleges have been worth while, even in a practical sense. To show that what has been called a country club is now an integral factor in hastening the end of the present state of affairs.

Fine Work

The fine impression made by the juniors on the personnel at Fort Devens who handled their processing last weekend is highly commendable.

Word has come back from the army center commenting in a very favorable manner on the attitude and fine cooperation of the local group. The boys disappointed as they were at missing the Prom, nevertheless went about their business of becoming activated with good will and a fine cooperative spirit.

We might all feel very proud at the knowledge that the New Hampshire boys did themselves and their university proud.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Currently there is a big movement to get Negro players signed up by major baseball clubs. Organizations, schools, and individual baseball fans are writing to the managers of their favorite teams expressing their desire to see colored players in action.

There are numerous ball players of major league calibre who should be in the majors. Judge Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, said last summer that there is no law which prevents Negroes from being signed. Managers will be willing to sign them if they get encouragement from the fans. This is a chance for each of us to help get Negroes on our favorite team.

Colored men have excelled in many sports: boxing, track, and basketball. It's only fair to get them in action in

CAPITOL TO CAMPUS

GOVERNMENT GOES FEMININE

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—War-time government is a 3-million job industry rapidly being taken over by the ladies.

At the moment, hiring of both men and women in many sections of government is frozen. Orders from the Budget Bureau have commanded a multitude of important agencies to bring staff below ceilings in 30 days—or else.

But this unseasonal freeze doesn't mean the war boom in government service is over. Far from it. The need for trained personnel, especially women, in public services will continue to grow as government war services expand and reorganize.

What's more, the piecemeal withdrawal of men into the armed forces is just beginning to hit government where it hurts—in the ranks of 3-A.

How many women will be needed before the year ends is anybody's guess. No authority will venture an official estimate. But whatever the number, it's sure to be large.

The march of women into government is a peace-time trend quickened by war. In 1933, 15 per cent of government positions were held by women. By 1942, the proportion had risen to 24 per cent. Now nearly 70 per cent of all new appointments and re-appointments go to women.

There are virtually no jobs in government today that women can't fill. Thus far, there are comparatively few women in the higher technical and administrative services and in the field services of such activities as forestry and certain aspects of public health work. But that doesn't mean women with the right training can't hold the jobs. Even in industrial occupations, a Social Security Board survey shows, 1468 of 1900 war occupations are wholly suitable for women and 276 partially suitable.

Nor does a government job necessarily mean a Washington job. At the first of the year, only 263,692 of the government's 2,687,093 employees were in Washington. Twenty-four per cent of the women, however, worked in the capital, indicating the field services still have less than their share of women.

Donald C. Stone, assistant director of the Budget Bureau, is unequivocal about the opportunities for college women in public administration. "Government offers exceptional opportunity for administrative work in every field of endeavor imaginable," he says.

"The recruitment of several thousand college graduates under the examinations for junior professional assistant is having a profound effect. These young men and women have moved up to more important duties at a rapid rate. My fear is that with the dearth of adequately trained persons, promotion of many of these young employees to high positions has come too rapidly.

"In any event, there is a desperate search going on by all agencies for persons qualified for administrative work of all grades from juniors to heads of bureaus and divisions."

The American Council on Education has made a study of the general needs of a woman planning to enter government service. All such students should be trained in report-writing, the council believes. Knowledge of research methods and the elements of statistics in simple form is helpful. Also recommended is some study on war-time economic problems and the fundamentals of American government and public administration.

With these tools supplementing specialized training, a woman entering government today may expect a long career in public service. The shortage of trained personnel has turned government attention more and more to training on the job. The career system idea has been gaining ground, too. Higher professional positions are coming to be filled more frequently by promotions from within.

All appointments now are made for the duration and six months after. Doubtless some women will be replaced when peace comes. But chances are extremely good for a continuing career in government for women who start on their way now.

'OUTFIT THE OUTFIT'

A young girl with a martial snap to her stride steps from the shadow of the famous war bond Minute Man, accompanied by the slogan, "She's Ready, Too!"

That's the poster idea now kicking off the second big war loan drive for 13 billion dollars on campuses of the nation's women's colleges. To get the college gals' loose change where it will do most good right now, the Treasury has cooked up "Outfit the Outfit" as a special theme for women's schools.

The Treasury hopes to boost sales of war savings stamps by linking them with clothing and equipment purchases for the armed forces. For the $1.05 a whimsical lapel pin would cost, for instances, the U. S. can buy a soldier's steel helmet. A quarter drive from the movies to war stamps will buy a first aid pouch. A ten-dollar dress is worth an army woolen overcoat and a six-dollar sweater is worth a field jacket.

That's one way of getting more for your money, now and after the war.

Soldier-Students May Join Fraternities Here

Traditional college life will become more of a reality to the men engaged in the Army Specialized Training Program as two new rulings of the War Department go into effect. The first provides that the soldier-students may join fraternities if invited to do so although, it was stressed, there is no compulsion on the fraternities to issue such invitations. The second establishes a program of competitive team sports within the Specialized Training units to help inculcate the "will to win" and to aid in physical conditioning of the men.

Intercollegiate sports competition will be ruled out as the soldier-students will have not time to train for or participate in such events but there will be plenty of scope for first-class competition within the units themselves. Team sports will be limited only by the availability of facilities and equipment, by the interest of the students and by the ingenuity of the instructors. Suggested sports include soccer, speedball, touch football, modified football, basketball, volleyball and baseball as it is felt that these, in particular, are conducive to the attainment of the program's four objectives: (1) To develop those qualities, capabilities and reflexes associated with first-class physical condition. (2) To develop in the soldier-students certain fundamental skills essential either to safety or to effective operations in modern warfare. (3) To install in the minds and hearts of the soldier-students an aggressive, fighting spirit. (4) To provide a sound, sane and wholesome counter-poise to the highly accelerated schedule of academic study that is involved in the specialized training program.

Although it is expected that much of the weekly six hours of physical training as well as considerable Saturday afternoon free time will be devoted to contests of skill and science, other activities will not be neglected in the program. Three additional categories, described by the War Department as "aquatics, combatives, and gymnastics and obstacle courses," are to be included. Each man will receive training in all four types of activity before his course is completed and will be given individual attention when necessary. Emphasis will be placed on the military aspect of all activities. For example, in the aquatics program the elementary breast and backstrokes will be stressed because of their proven value in escaping from disasters at sea. In the combative type of physical training, the soldier will be taught how to use his own weapons, hands, feet, knees, elbows and head. Instruction will also be offered in boxing, wrestling, judo tricks, rough and tumble fighting and the use of sabres.

By combining pleasant recreation with skilled instruction, the Army expects to develop aggressive and well-coordinated fighters with a strong competitive spirit.

Slight Decrease in War Stamp Drive

The War Stamp Drive swung into its total of $178.00 having been received from members of the undergraduate body. These figures were less than usual last week, perhaps accountable by the temporary departure of the Junior R.O.T.C.

The following houses hit the 100 percent mark: Alpha Tau Omega; Alpha Xi Delta; Bickford House; Phi Alpha; and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

breakfast. Life insurance and the buying of war bonds were discussed, then the boys began the business of being interviewed.

The issuance of dog-tags brought home the realization that they were in the Army now.

Most exciting, of course, was in receiving their clothing and equipment. An assembly-line process was used, the boys clothed only in their dog-tags started from one end of the room and emerged fully dressed even to an overcoat in about ten minutes. With them they also had a barracks bag loaded with about seventy five pounds of materials and equipment that makes up the enlisted man's burden.

After this came an indoctrination film and the solemn reading of the articles of war. This about completed the program so the new privates were again loaded on trucks and taken to the railroad station to return to Durham.

It was a tired but happy bunch that trudged up the streets of Durham at 6:15, heavy bags on their shoulders. But then — there was the house parties.

tying soldiers to see if they would make good spies, cooks, yard birds, messengers, or pencil sharpeners.

Actually the soldiers are taking tests to determine whether or not they need a 30-day refresher course before they are sent to another New England institution for specialized training along lines which they followed before they entered the Army. Thus a man who was studying to be a civil engineer before Pearl Harbor but who is a little rusty on his Calculus will be given an intensified refresher in math here at the University and then sent on to some other college which will take him further in engineering.

As for extra-curricular activities during the maximum of 30 days which they will be stationed here, they're OK as far as anyone knows until the 10 o'clock curfew. But soldiers who put in a 60 hour week of study, drill, and marching aren't going to be too enthusiastic about going jitterbugging seven nights a week!

Watercolor Exhibit Displayed in Library

A series of colorful paintings, entitled "The Hemisphere in Watercolor," by Eliot O'Hara, is now on exhibit at the Hamilton Smith Library and will continue to be shown until April 30.

The exhibit represents a most unusual interpretation of this hemisphere—from Alaska to the Straits of Magellan—through the brush of one of America's outstanding watercolorists. Mr. O'Hara is forever traveling, seeking out to beauties of faraway places and painting his impressions.

Among the outstanding paintings in this collection are "Bathing Beach, Montevideo," "Penguin Island," and "Downtown Pittsburg." In 1937, a group of four pictures called "Yuma Dunes" was awarded the Philadelphia Water Color Club Prize. "Plaza, Hermosillo, Mexico," and "Docks at Gordova, Alaska," two of the most recent paintings, were added to the current series in 1941. Practically every section of this hemisphere is represented in this unique collection.

Mr. O'Hara is the author of several books, among which are Watercolor Fares Forth, and Making Watercolor Behave. During the year, Mr. O'Hara travels up and down the continent, painting; but every summer, for twelve years, he has returned to New England to direct the O'Hara Water Color School at Goose Rocks Beach, Maine. His paintings are to be found in many public collections throughout the country, including art museums in Washington, D. C., Palm Beach, and New York City.

LIFE ON CAMPUS

team was doing well and consequently qualified for the National Inter-collegiate Rifle Championships. This year the rifle team missed having one of the best teams in history because four of the stars were engulfed by the armed forces.

Last year at this time Coach Sauer was conducting spring football at the local pigskin fields. This year no spring football was conducted and Coach George Sauer joined the Naval Reserves. Coach Sauer on April 20, 1942, reported to active duty in the Navy, thus leaving the Wildcats after five consecutive years as a coach here. Sauer was one of the best liked coaches ever to serve New Hampshire students and to most of the sports enthusiasts on campus his departure signalized the first precise symptom of the fangs of war.

One year ago Carl Lundholm was preparing his freshman baseball team for its opener with Phillips Exeter Academy and Coach Paul Sweet of the track forces was preparing his freshman trackmen for their encounter with Dartmouth's freshman. This year there is no freshman baseball team and no organized freshman track team.

About 12 months ago the largest and probably one of the most talented freshman lacrosse squad was organized under the tutorage of Coach Joe Tinker. This year there is no Freshman Lacrosse team.

But the things mentioned are only a few of the numerous items that could be mentioned. Big dances have been reduced in length, there are fewer Saturday night dances, the number of undergraduate male students is rapidly diminishing and after May 15 there may be no civilian male students of good physical condition on campus.

The war was actually brought to our campus last week by the arrival of the first contingent of the Army Specialized Training group and the presence of the Blood Donor Unit. Then last Saturday evening the Juniors came back from Camp Devens attired in khaki, thus making the army-like appearance of the campus almost complete.

Even though many good times and well-liked activities have been curtailed or eliminated the average student isn't kicking, but is taking the condition in stride.

Charlie Wentworth Recalls Days of Yore in Durham Town

Many generations of students have purchased tickets from Charles Wentworth who stands behind the rusty bars of the railroad station, but how many of them realized that Mr. Wentworth is an artist who can not only paint in water colors, but does exceptional work in pen and ink drawings.

Back in 1905 he drew cartoons for the New Hampshire College Monthly, a magazine published by the students at that time. These were mostly satires on campus life. At one time he did a little work along this line for Life, before it became a pictorial magazine, and also for the Boston Globe. Being so busy checking express, selling tickets, and sending telegrams, Charlie only wishes he had more time to follow up his avocation.

Came in 1900

When Charlie saw Durham for the first time, the staging was still up around Thompson Hall. About 1900 he came here to live, since he saw many chances for advancement in this growing town. It was about this time that the students held their dances in "T" Hall. He said that even back then they usually succeeded in crowding in three or four hundred people for these dances, a great many of them coming in from the surrounding towns.

As Charlie rambled on, he recalled an exciting incident which took place in 1905. An express train which was plowing through town at a perilous pace, went off the tracks and rolled over. Seventeen people were injured and were cared for at one of the fraternities which was situated where Ballard Hall now is. This accident was greatly publicized and it caused a great deal of commotion among the students and townspeople.

One of Charlie's outstanding qualities is his amazing memory for names and faces of former students. After thirty-two years of absence, he recently astounded one of them by calling him by name. At one time he knew practically everyone on campus, but because of the exceedingly large number of students who now attend the university, he knows very few of them personally, much to his sorrow.

In living in the stimulus of perpetual youth, Charlie claims that one doesn't notice the passage of time. Perhaps it is because of this that he keeps so young in spirit.

celor's chorus, "The Law is the True Embodiment of Everything that's Excellent." The good humor of Mozart's Lasst Uns Mit Geschlungenen Handen from the Cantata, "Die Maurerfreude" and the canon, "O Du Eselhafter Martin" was fully appreciated by all concerned.

By far the most interesting number on the program was "Je Me Suis Fondu de Joie" by the modern French composer, Darius Milhaud. Enormously complex, with a variance of rhythms and shifting chromatics, the Glee Club gave an expert performance of this difficult and magnificent work composed on Psalm CXXII.

Well Executed

The beautiful harmonies of the 16th century Italian composer, Allegri's, "Miserere" was well executed, with good breath control and interpretation, though towards the end their pitch was abt off. Following this was the the Vaughan Williams, "Let us Now Praise Famous Men," a triumphant tribute to all thinking men.

The program ended with two folk songs—the plaintive Irish "Has Sorow thy Young Days Shaded" and the meaningful Netherlands folk song, "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

A number of encores were given. Soloists were J. Wells Goodrich, Jr., '46 and Richard Emerson, '43. Accompanists were Charles Greenhouse, '45 and James J. Lawlor, '43.

William Anderson, chairman of the political science department at the University of Minnesota is current president of the American Political Science Association.

Lacrosse Team Takes Harvard Easily 9 to 5

Parker, Saunders, Martin Hastings, Lead Attack

By virtue of a third period barrage of markers led by the sensational combination of Ace Parker and Fred Saunders, the University of New Hampshire Lacrosse team opened its 1943 season here Monday with an easy 9 to 5 victory over a unexpectedly weak Harvard ten. A large crowd of both students and service men braved the winter like winds to support the home team in its opener. The weather made the game a bit drab in parts.

Hurley drew first blood in the game with a goal just at the 5 minute mark for the Crimson. With Ace Parker cleverly faking and pivoting the length of the field, the Wildcats knotted the count within 15 seconds on a shot by Cochran on the end of a Parker pass.

From this point on in the game it was all New Hampshire although the score did not indicate that fact. A ten minute driving offense resulted in two goals that sent the Wildcats ahead at the end of the first stanza 3 to 1. Capt. Phil Martin was responsible for the tally that put the team ahead and Ace Parker netted the third marker which sent the crowd standing and cheering, on an underhook shot that hugged the turf clear into the nets.

In the second period a Harvard goal by Barber was matched within a half of a minute by Capt. Phil Martin. The Wildcats missed many opportunities during this quarter to roll up the count on the visitors. The half ended with the home team having a two-point 4 to 2 margin.

The first five minutes of the second half were the deciding minutes of the game. Before the smoke had cleared, Parker and Saunders had teamed to put New Hampshire ahead 7 to 2. Fred counted for 2 goals and Ace for one with assists on each to the other.

On the Wildcat Docket:

Friday, Saturday: Penn Relays

Saturday: Dual Meet here with Exeter
Baseball
Saturday: Doubleheader at Orono, Maine

Later in the period Hurley tallied for a second for the Harvard team. Near the close of the third quarter Bill Kolinsky took a pass from Ace Parker and hung up No. 8 for the Wildcats.

Bill Kolinsky came right back at the start of the last period when within twenty seconds of the face he had skirted the entire Harvard aggregation and rammed another goal into the twine. Coach Tony Dougal decided at this point that it was time to give his regulars a breather and Harvard scored their last two goals while the Wildcats were playing shorthanded with substitutes. Taking no chances after the score was 9 to 5, Big Ed Mackel, Will Hastings, and Bill Call were again inserted at the defense and further challenging on the part of the Crimson was not forthcoming.

With a little smoothing off of the rough spots, Coach Tony Dougal may well have one of the finest teams ever seen in these parts, this current spring. Spectators at the game were much impressed with the excellent defensive play of Will Hastings and Ed Mackel and with the customarily great play of Capt. Phil Martin but were more than pleasantly surprised with the showings of first year varsity timber, Fred Saunders, Ace Parker, and Dick Smith.

The next game for the Wildcat team will be at Medford against Tufts this Saturday. The Durham lads will be highly pregame favorites after their showing Monday against a Harvard team which the week before easily took the Jumbos into camp.

WANTED—Girl to work for room and board starting in May. Call Durham 223.

By D. E. McPherson

Rumor No. 8549011345 was confirmed last Thursday and dispelled over the weekend by Lt. Colonel Morton Smith, which had the coaching staff as well as the student body in a curious turmoil. The word was that Junior ROTC lads would not be allowed to compete in intercollegiate competition after their recent journey to Devens. When this news reached the Field House, Director of Athletics, Carl Lundholm, Lacrosse Coach Tony Dougal, Baseball Coach Hank Swasey, and Track Coach Paul Sweet frantically were after the real dope. Saturday, after a lengthy conference, it was announced that the Juniors were given the OK signal. Twenty-nine men were affected directly by the initial pitchers; Tony Dougal had given up on seven men, most of which were the main cogs in the smooth functioning of the club; and Paul Sweet lost his team (Morcom,) as well as a dozen others.

But the rumor now officially dispelled, coaches and candidates alike are now all set for a successful season.

The Bull wishes to draw serious attention to the Letter to Editor this week concerning Negroes in Major League Ball. When reading it remember the day that Satchlefoot Paige wiffed Joltin Joe DiMaggio four times in one contest. Incidentally it was the only time that the Yankee Bomber ever faced the Black Yankees' ace. Readers might be interested to know that a girl was the author of that very reasonable and intelligent letter. Give it an extra thought.

This week marks the beginning of the spring sports activities. This would not be the Bull if a few predictions were thrown in to be considered. The baseball team is in for a good season with 4 victories in Sheik's right paw and we hope 2 to 4 more in other hands. A tremendously unbalanced track team will have another "fair" or better season through no fault of 15-point Morcom. The Lacrosse team is after top glory and stands a high chance of attaining their goal in the New England Conference of Lacrosse Teams.

Speculating has been carried on for weeks now as to the steps that will be taken for the new Durham visitors in the barracks concerning sports. As yet no word has been heard from Director of Athletics Carl Lundholm. Mayhap there will be more enlightening developments through the course of the week. For the interest of all, our rumor mongers will be out for any and all news pertaining to this subject this week.

Life on Campus Changed Much Since Declaration of War

By Phil Peters

Slowly, relentlessly, the destructive aspects of war have been raising havoc with all types of normal activities at the university even though up to last week many of the external signs of warfare were lacking. Finally the conundrums of the War Department have been mostly solved and this picturesque campus has become the scene of marching feet and khaki uniforms.

But what has occurred here in the last year that has gradually consigned the symptoms of war to this campus?

No ROTC Summer Camp

On March 27 of last year Colonel Smith of the Military Science Department announced that all ROTC summer camps would be discontinued for the duration and that in the future all candidates would be required to attend the basic course at an appropriate special service school following graduation.

During the same week it was announced that no mention of weather conditions could be made public through radio or newspaper and all amateurs in this field were warned.

The New Hampshire tennis team, coached by George Fielding was finding it exceptionally difficult to secure transportation in order to play its regularly scheduled out-of-town games.

Gay, Romantic Campus

On the whole, however, the university a year ago was still the gay, romantic campus of normal times with the sports teams performing at top capacity with unusual success.

Coach George Fielding was tutoring what was considered one of the most powerful tennis teams the Wildcats have ever had with Frank Churas, Bob Joslin, Elliot Jewell, Bill Peeney, and some sophomores composing the squad. At the present there is no tennis team whatsoever and George Fielding has left the university.

Wildcat Track Team Hampered by Weather

Still needing ideal weather conditions to show any indication of its ability, the Wildcat track team is daily working out on the local cinders in an attempt to get ready for the opening meet with Northeastern a week from this Saturday, May 1.

Candidates

Coach Paul Sweet now has a total of 56 candidates for starting berths on this spring aggregation. He has expressed his delight to see so much enthusiasm on the part of those candidates who are out for track for the first time and have found hidden talents in various events which they, themselves never believed they had. Determined to achieve a greatly needed balanced team, some of the veterans are taking a fling at events which are entirely foreign to their capacities.

The first New Hampshire competition of the season will be the Penn. Relays for Pvt. Moo Morcom. Then comes a junior varsity contest with Exeter on this coming Saturday.

Candidates and Events

Outing Club Installs New Officers

On Monday, April 19th, Blue Circle, governing body of the Outing Club, met in the Alumni Room in New Hampshire Hall to install the officers for the coming year. The following were elected: President, Ray Bowles; first vice-president, Chipper Curtis; second vice-president, Judy Austin; secretary, Ann Hale; treasurer, Carlton Preble; trips' director, Ardelia Hutchins; programs and publicity director, Gretchen Baum; transportation director, Sam Goodhue; cabins and trails, Bill McCartin.

After the installation refreshments were served.

Spring Ski Trip Planned for April 24

A gala weekend, including a choice of spring skiing on Mt. Washington or hiking on Iron Mountain has been planned for April 24 and 25 by the Outing Club. Members of the club and outdoor enthusiasts will participate in a trip to the Jackson Cabin.

The Harvard and Radcliffe Outing Clubs will join the N.H.O.C. on this excursion. Lists will be posted at Ballard Hall Thursday morning at 8 o'clock; the approximate expenses for the trip will be $2.00 per person. The trip is strictly limited to fourteen people.

Other trips scheduled for the remainder of the Semester include: May 1-2—Hiking trip to Mt. Chocorua; May 8-9—N.H.O.C. Franconia Cabin.

With the exception of this Saturday, the usual weekly Mendum's trips will be run. The trip this week will take place Thursday for the annual Blue Circle Outing. The truck will leave Ballard Hall at 5:00 P. M. after drill.

Saturday afternoon at Orono, Maine, the University of New Hampshire baseball team will officially open its 1943 season in a double header with conference competitors, the Maine Bears. Probably one of the best looking nine in many seasons will take the field. In Durham sports circles, a double victory is anticipated.

With Sheik Karelis toeing the slab in the initial contest, a New Hampshire triumph is virtually certain. The 2-year veteran will be hard to beat this year, Coach Swasey announced. Swasey is looking for at least four victories from that potent right wing of Karelis'.

Starting Lineup

The starting Wildcat lineup will include Charron, Bobotas, Flint, and Card in the infield; Dupont, Adams, and Callagy patrolling the outer gardens; Cuning behind the bat with Sheik Karelis, and Alki Hall or Fred Jarvis doing the chucking.

The Maine team will present but two veterans in their lineup. The Bears might, however, have a slight edge on the Durhamites in that they have had four weeks of outdoor practice already under their belts.

In a pre-game probable batting order, Coach Swasey has set Leo Dupont as leadoff man. Leo is a notably consistent hitter and deserves the number one spot for his work this spring and varsity work last spring. He is one of the best outfielders in the conference.

Second in the batting order is agile Norm Flint. This little lad from North Newport has earned himself a regular spot on the Swasey nine mainly because of his inspiring talk and pep. Batting practice has seen Norm connect with slashing line drives continually. He bats from the port side. Fred Charron, versatile veteran of many Swasey teams has been given the nod as No. 3 in the batting order. This year Fred is holding down the initial sack and has been knocking the cover off the pill at the chilly practices. In the cleanup spot is Soc Bobotas. Soc is remembered for his sensational play on the Frosh nine last year, but more so for his semi-pro activities in the past two years. Definitely one of the best stickers on the club, a great deal of the team's success depends upon the batting stability of Soc this year.

In all important fifth position in the batting order will be Red Adams, veteran centerfielder of the Wildcats. Red is accepted as one of the top gardeners in the conference as well as a dangerous man with the stick. A junior transfer student from Green Mountain, Ed Card, remembered from the basketball season for his excellent play has captured the hot corner job and is batting sixth. In the seventh spot at the place will be Tom Callagy, installed this year in right field. Tom is capable as both an infielder and outfielder. Dave Cuning, back to practice after a recent attack of mumps, has been given the brain position, catcher. As captain of field play, Dave will have a tremendous amount of responsibility on his shoulders. Batting eighth as is customary, Swasey will have punch at both ends of the batting order.

The starting nod in the first game of course is to Sheik Karelis. Either Alki Hall, another Green Mountain lad, or Fred Jervis will have the chores from the mound in the nightcap.

The beginning of the second abbreviated season is now under way. Watch the Wildcats this year.

On Monday night Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society, held its spring initiation. Twelve high ranking seniors were admitted to the organization. From Liberal Arts: John Colocousis, Joseph Arena, Robert Harding, Marcia Wetherell, Miriam Eastman, Evelyn Tipping. Technology: Charles Forbes, Arthur Barrett, Hyman Ston. Agriculture: Charles Obert. Transfers: Jack Lepoff, Herbert Wieland.
